Art

In Ms. Seaford's Art class we have done a variety of art projects!

Eighth graders have completed pencil portraits in partners and two point perspective cityscapes. They have also created fantasy birds out of paper to contribute to the art jungle (a large landscape back drop that each grade will be adding their animals to). This week we are going to start working with clay!

Seventh graders have created cut paper collages of nature and pencil self-portraits. This week we are going to create fantasy animals to add to our art jungle (the large landscape that each grade is adding animals to). We are also going to begin working with clay!

Sixth graders have created torn paper landscape collages, radial designs, and fantasy sea creatures. They will be adding their sea creatures to the large background that each art class is contributing to (an art class jungle).

An art exhibit is in the works. I'm very excited about the possibility of having all students pick their best work of art to display here at school. This art show would be in the evening so that parents can come see their student's work on display just like in a museum or art gallery! Look for more information on this in the future.
